Q3 2026	$2,150,000	$1,020,000	52.5%

Research Paper: Distributed System Resilience

1. Introduction & Background

Modern cloud infrastructures require fault-tolerant consensus protocols. Our experiments demonstrate linear scalability across 128 nodes.

2. Experimental Methodology

We evaluated latency distribution under synthetic network partitions. Results confirm sub-millisecond recovery time across all partitions.

Measured p99 latency remained stable at 1.42ms during failovers.
